

Western

Centre for Research in Social Inequality

GRADUATE STUDENT ACADEMIC PROJECT COMPETITION

Deadline: Friday, February 4, 2022, at 5pm

The Western Centre for Research on Social Inequality (CRSI) is supporting a student academic competition for projects focused on social inequality.

a. Eligibility

- a. A graduate student in the Faculty of Social Science at Western University and
- b. A graduate student affiliate of the Centre for Research on Social Inequality. If you are not yet an affiliate of CRSI, you can e-mail crsissc@uwo.ca and Leha Huffman (lhuffma@uwo.ca) to sign up.

b. Prize

- a. $1000 gift (subject to applicable taxes)
- b. The opportunity to present your work in a CRSI-sponsored seminar

c. Application details

- a. Proposal: Please submit a 1-page proposal (12-point font; Times New Roman; 1.5 spacing; 1-inch margins) with the following information:
 - i. Title of project
 - ii. Author(s) of the project
 - iii. Description of the project
 - iv. Data and methods being used
 - v. How your findings will contribute insights to the broad literature on social inequality
- b. The project can be co-authored by other students and faculty at Western.
- c. Submit your application to crsissc@uwo.ca.

d. Adjudication

- a. A committee comprised of a select group of faculty associates of CRSI.

e. Questions?

- a. Email crsissc@uwo.ca or Prof. Patrick Denice (pdenice@uwo.ca)